COMPANY PROFILE:

A &M Precision Measuring Services is a leading specialist in tooling, machining, and metrology services. A&M's expertise in the aerospace, automotive, and defense industries ensures the successful completion of the most challenging projects. A&M has built a business by developing close relationships with their customers and exceeding their expectations

A&M Precision Measuring Services: Professional. Precise. Personal.

TOOLING CAPABILITIES

A &M Precision Measuring Services was founded by tool builders; this is our core-competence around which we have built our reputation. We take this aspect of our business very personally - it's what we do and where we excel. From routines, to reworks, to complete packages involving engineering, fabrication, assembly, installation, and inspection, we have the capability to meet your tooling requirements.

METROLOGY SERVICES

Inspection: A&M has experienced personnel and a wide variety of the latest equipment to meet your metrology needs. With years of experience in the inspection and tooling industries, our technicians are ready to help with your inspection work.

A &M has the equipment and experience to meet your reverse engineering requirements. From collecting the data, to generating a point cloud, to building a CAD model, our staff is available to discuss your next R/E project.

Consistency Without Compromise.

It's all in the chemistry.
It's all in the company.

At General Plastics, the attributes of our products reflect the quality of our chemistry-based solutions and the commitment of our people. For 70-plus years, we have met or exceeded the exacting requirements of the aerospace industry. Our build-to-print flexible polyurethane foam products and rigid composite cores satisfy multiple applications in flight decks and interior cabins. Our aerospace-grade tooling boards offer exceptional versatility and easy CNC machining in a wide range of densities, from multi-use core and modeling series to high-temperature boards. They provide an affordable alternative to metal for prototyping and limited-run molds, and perform as promised under a wide range of conditions. Count on General Plastics for identical quality, uniformity, stability, and weight for the density specified – every time.

Whether it's the product or the people behind it, consistency matters. Call 1-888-909-6654 or visit us at www.generalplastics.com/aero to request samples or a price quote.
